

CV

Yoko Yamazaki
Uppsala, Sweden

yamazaki.yoko@gmail.com
<https://www.linkedin.com/in/yoko-yamazaki-3228a925/>

Resume

---

PhD in Baltic languages and linguistics and experience as a postdoctoral researcher, a project leader (including the management of budget), a lecturer, and with editing a book using LaTeX. Special knowledge in linguistics, and several software such as LaTeX, Gimp, InkScape. As a person, I am experienced with working with people of different expertise. Now I am looking for a job as a research / project coordinator, a Japanese teacher, an editor, or a proofreader.

Education

---

- |             |  |
|-------------|--|
| 2012 – 2016 | PhD in Baltic Languages at Stockholm University, Swedenwith a PhD thesis discussing a phonological / linguistic topic in Lithuanian from a Baltic and Indo-European historical linguistic point of view.  |
| 2007 – 2012 | Doctoral student at Linguistics Department, Kyoto University, Japanwith particular reference to historical linguistics (phonology and morphology) in the Lithuanian language.   |
| 2005 – 2007 | Master's Degree in Linguistics at Kyoto University, Japanwith a thesis discussing a phonological (accentual) irregularity in the Lithuanian language from a Baltic and Indo-European historical linguistic point of view.                           |
| 2001 – 2005 | Bachelor's Degree in Linguistics at Kyoto University, Japandiscussing the historical origin of the English pronoun “she”, proposing its development from Old English feminine pronoun hēo ‘she’ through phonological and analogical changes. |

Employments

---

- |                     |  |
|---------------------|--|
| 2025 Apr. – present | Assistant /adjunct teacher at Japanese School in StockholmJob assignment: Assisting /teaching calculation and Japanese language classes at elementary levels  |
| 2024 Sept. – Dec.   | Human Past Fellow at Swedish Collegium for Advanced Study / Center for the Human Past, SwedenJob assignment: Conducting an independent multidisciplinary research in historical linguistics and archaeogenomics   |
| 2022 – Aug. 2025    | Researcher at Stockholm University (Department for Slavic and Baltic Studies, Finnish, Dutch and German), SwedenJob assignment: Conducting an independent multidisciplinary research in historical linguistics and archaeogenomics; management of the project as the project leader |

2018 – 2021	Postdoctoral researcher at Stockholm University (Department for Slavic and Baltic Studies, Finnish, Dutch and German), Sweden / University of Zurich (Department of Comparative Language Science), Switzerland Job assignment: Conducting an independent research in historical linguistics of the Baltic languages; management of the project as the project leader
2018 16th – 18th May	Interpreter of Japanese / English at EuropTec, Switzerland Job assignment: Interpreting Japanese / English at a business meetings of corporations (EuropTec [CH] and Sharp [Jp]).
2012 – 2016	PhD student at the Department for Slavic and Baltic Studies, Finnish, Dutch and German, Stockholm University, Sweden Job assignment: Conducting an original research in historical linguistics / Baltic linguistics and writing a PhD themes; giving a lecture in Baltic linguistics.
2012 Apr. – Aug.	Part-time lecturer at the Division of Behavioral Studies, Kyoto University, Japan Job assignment: Giving a tutorial lecture in historical linguistics at the Departmental Seminar
2008 – 2010	JSPS Research Fellow DC2 at the Linguistics Department, Kyoto University, Japan Job assignment: Conducting an original research in historical linguistics / Baltic linguistics; management of the project as the project leader
2007 – 2008	Research Assistant at the Linguistics Department, Kyoto University, Japan Job assignment: assorting research material; proofreading manuscripts for publication

Others

---

Language skills:

Japanese – native
 English – fluent
 Lithuanian – intermediate
 German – intermediate (telc Deutsch B2)
 Swedish – intermediate (course D for international employees at Stockholm University, Spring term 2025)
 Old Lithuanian, Classic Greek, Vedic Sanskrit, Old Church Slavic, Hittite, Old Irish – text analysis

IT skills:

Oses: Linux (Ubuntu), Mac OS, Windows
 Software: LaTeX, Gimp, InkScape, Openshot, LibreOffice, Microsoft Office (Word, Excel, PowerPoint)
 HTML

Other merits:

Associated Fellow at the Center for the Human Past, Sweden

A volunteering course assistant for “Japanisch Mittelstufe” Spring term 2018, University of Bern, Switzerland. (A language proficiency course in Japanese on the A1/2 level. The instruction language was German / English. The function of the course assistants was to facilitate the group work in Japanese, correcting mistakes of grammar / pronunciation, and adjusting turn-taking of conversations.)

A volunteering course assistant for “Japanisch Grundstufe” Fall term 2017, University of Bern, Switzerland. (A language proficiency course in Japanese on the A2+/B1 level. The instruction language and the function of the course assistants are same as above.)

Award for outstanding PhD theses, Kungliga Vitterhetsakademien (Swedish Royal Academy of Letters) in March 2017

Interests:      Writing essays about linguistics
                    (<https://swanrad.ch/yy/documents/papers/kaihou241essay.pdf>
                    <https://swanrad.ch/yy/documents/papers/kaihou239essay.pdf>)

Watching / practicing classic ballet (ca. 40 yrs of experience)

References

---

Available upon request.